

Fact Sheet

ALTITUDE DESIGN OFFICE is a team of architecture, graphic design, interior design and fine arts professionals who thoughtfully integrate information, identity and storytelling into the design of public and private places.

Our award-winning team spans the U.S., working as a collaborative consultant alongside real estate developers, architects and designers, marketing and HR leaders, and facilities professionals to create better experiences for people through memorable branded environments and architectural graphics, clear wayfinding and signage programs, and standout brand designs.

As a Certified LGBT Business Enterprise, Altitude Design Office can help projects meet diversity, equity and inclusion goals. Everything we do is driven by one ideal: to create progress for our clients and the people they serve. With diverse backgrounds and a shared sense of purpose, our nationwide team creates custom solutions with focused outcomes. From large developments and urban spaces to intimate exhibits and handheld collateral, we design human-centered brand experiences by blurring the lines of strategy, visual communication and placemaking.

Altitude Design Office was founded in 2015 by Greg Nelson, IIDA, Assoc. AIA.
